Statement on Blocked Crossings

Three Missouri Pacific officials were in this office Tuesday to discuss the repeated blocking of downtown streets during freight switching operations, which culminated in the fining of the railroad company in local court.

They were Joseph R. Beckman, public relations representative, of Chicago; B. E. Kerlee, superintendent, of Little Rock; and a third man whose name got lost in my chattered desk.

It was a friendly conference. They wanted to know if I had any suggestions on what to do about the blocked crossings. That was a mistake on their part: Any editor is full of suggestions, not necessarily good ones.

However, I opened Hope's case by remarking that the city will never forget how Missouri Pacific took half of Division St. when building the passenger depot at Main and Division.

And this led me to say that since there are no more passenger trains and therefore no need for a passenger depot it would be helpful if the railroad tore down the station and made Main a through street.

Basically, of course, what is really needed is another underpass or overpass downtown, and reconstruction of the Hervey St. underpass with steel trusses so that the dangerous wooden support in the middle of the street could be eliminated.

We rambled on, with the railroad men noncommittal; and I finally suggested they put the railroad's case in a letter which I assured them I would publish.

So, a letter on the blocked crossings question is upcoming.

Big bobbie breaks up
beer brawl

LEICESTER, England (AP) — Police officers in two squad cars braced for trouble when they raced through this Midlands city today to handle a reported street brawl.

But instead of two gangs of bawling thugs they found two spinster sisters — aged 93 and 84.

They were apparently fighting over what brand of beer they should drink with their dinner.

It took burly ex-army boxing referee Sidney Machin to pull the two white-haired sisters apart.

"They lived together for 50 years," Machin, a neighbor, explained. "I suppose they're entitled to their differences."

Bomb blasts

JERUSALEM (AP) — A bomb blasted Jerusalem's biggest supermarket, near the American consulate, slightly injuring the wife of a Venezuelan diplomat, and an Israeli girl student today. Arab terrorists were blamed.

The bomb-planted in the wine and liquor department near the supermarket entrance—sent liquid, glass splinters and detergent dust spraying through the crowded store.

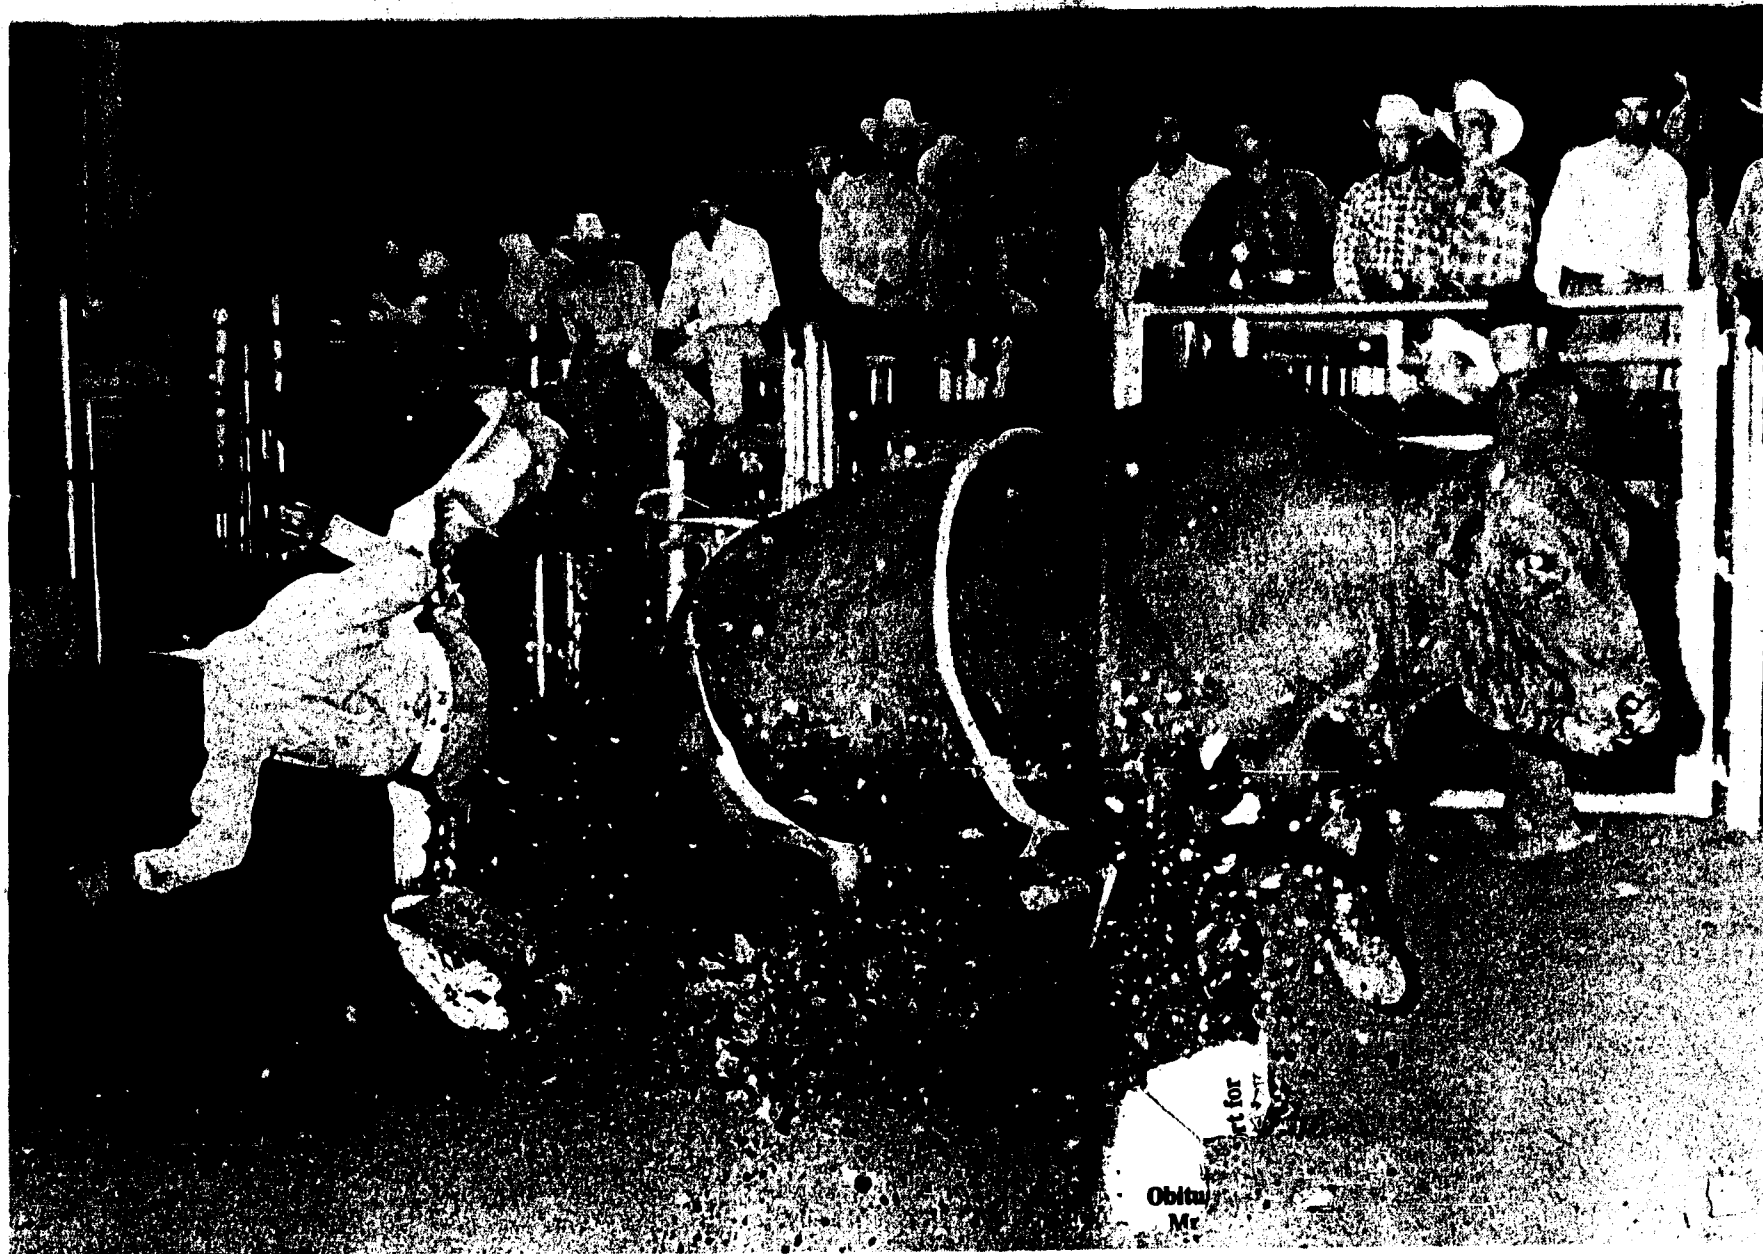

Police said the injuries to the two women were so slight that no ambulance or medical attendants were called.

Japan-China official ties begin today

SHANGHAI (AP) — Japan and China established diplomatic relations today and then Japanese Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka and Chinese Premier Chou En-lai flew to a staged but tumultuous reception in this port city which 35 years ago felt the Japanese military boot.

The two leaders climaxed a summit conference in Peking this morning with a joint statement announcing that diplomatic ties begin today, that Japan recognizes the People's Republic as the "sole legal government of China" and that negotiations will begin to conclude a treaty of peace and friendship replacing the one Japan signed in 1952 with Chiang Kai-shek's Republic of China on Taiwan.

Within hours after the statement was signed with Chinese writing brushes and toasted in champagne in Peking's Great Hall of the People, Tanaka's treatment, which had been warm but not effusive, underwent an extraordinary change. Several thousand gaily dressed dance, song and music groups from communes, universities, government offices and youth organizations deluged Peking airport with noise and color in a sendoff strikingly different from the coolly correct reception Tanaka received on arrival Monday.

Tanaka made the two-hour flight to Shanghai with Chou in a special Ilyushin 18 and received a welcome here perhaps more exuberant than the Peking farewell.

Three thousand boys and girls beating cymbals, waving flowers and doing spirited dances greeted the two leaders. The throbbing beat on an enormous drum dominated the din.

Chang Chun-chiao, chairman of Shanghai's Revolutionary Committee and a Cultural Revolution associate of Mao Tse-tung's wife, led the official greeters.

Unlike Peking, where the streets were empty, crowds of people, some of them five deep, lined the Shanghai avenues in the center of town.

In a six-point joint communique, China renounced its demand for indemnities from Japan, which invaded China in 1937 and laid waste to the country.

Japan recognized Peking as "the sole, legal government of China."

The two governments also agreed to establish "durable relations of peace and friendship" on the basis of mutual respect for sovereignty and territorial integrity, mutual nonaggression, noninterference in each other's internal affairs.

Political overtones are evident in Laird's trip

WASHINGTON (AP) — At taxpayers' expense, Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird traveled through the Midwest this week, defending administration programs and attacking Democratic presidential candidate George McGovern at virtually every stop.

Despite his comments, Laird and Pentagon aides insisted the trip—and several others like it over the past weeks—was non-political.

That means the taxpayers, not the Committee for the Re-election of the President, picked up the expenses for his four-engine Air Force jet.

Traditionally, secretaries of Defense have remained aloof from partisan politicking during presidential campaigns but Laird, on every one of these trips, has criticized the Democratic nominee.

This week, his plane put down at Wichita Falls, Tex., home of Sheppard Air Force Base; and Fort Worth, Tex., Oklahoma City, and Wichita, Kan., all sites of big defense plants employing thousands.

3 pilots
are homeBy LEE GOULD
Associated Press Writer

The three American pilots freed by North Vietnam spent their first day home in military hospitals in three parts of the country today, still beset by political controversy over their return.

Air Force Maj. Edward Elias and Navy Lt. (j.g.) Mark Gartley and Norris Charles, dressed in freshly tailored service uniforms and wearing their combat decorations, arrived at Kennedy International Airport in New York Thursday night. They were greeted by family, friends and a delegation of ranking military men.

The trio separated from their escort of antiwar activists and, after a highly charged exchange between Gartley's mother and a Defense Department officer, headed for military hospitals in New York, Alabama and California. Mrs. Gartley, whose son was a prisoner for four years, objected to the immediate assignment, saying she wanted him to spend a few days with his family.

The three POWs had rejected offers to turn themselves over to U.S. government officials at various points along their journey, which included stops in Peking, Moscow and Copenhagen. One of the three, Maj. Edward Elias, said aboard the plane that he felt they had fulfilled the conditions of release set by Hanoi by remaining with their accompanying peace group.

Elias, 34, an Air Force officer held prisoner for five months, joined his family and flew to Maxwell Air Force Base in Montgomery, Ala., aboard a military C9 medical-evacuation plane, the Defense Department said.

The other two men are Navy Lt. (j.g.) Mark Gartley, 24, a prisoner for four years, and Navy Lt. (j.g.) Norris Charles, 27, captive nine months.

Gartley went to a family reunion at the U.S. Naval Hospital at St. Albans in New York City, the department said. Charles met with his family in New York and then flew to a naval hospital in San Diego aboard another C9, officials said.

Cora Weiss said she and the other three chaperones, David T. Dellinger, 58, Richard A.

Falk, 41, and the Rev. William Sloane Coffin Jr., had been deceived by Elias. She said the major had indicated antiwar sentiments in Hanoi only to change his attitude once they departed.

"We have just witnessed a recapture scene, one in-carceration replacing another," Mrs. Weiss said after the three men and their families drove away from the airport in government cars.

Gartley's mother, Mrs. Minnie Lee Gartley, broke down aboard the airplane when she failed to convince a Defense Department officer to let her take her son on a prearranged vacation.

"I didn't cry when you told me four years ago that my son had been captured in Vietnam, and I haven't cried since until tonight," she told the officer, Roger Shields.

"Your son is also an officer in the U.S. Navy," Shields interjected. He also told her that Gartley was being promoted to full lieutenant.

Crime rate
down

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration says serious crime during the first half of the year increased 1 per cent over the same period in 1971. The increase was the smallest since the FBI began issuing quarterly reports 12 years ago.

By comparison, said Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst, serious crime increased 7 per cent during the first 180 days of 1971; violent crime was up 11 per cent and property crime up 6 per cent.

He said the increase in both violent and property crimes during the first six months of 1972 was 1 per cent.

But Sen. George McGovern, the Democratic candidate for president, said the figures do not present a true picture of crime in America.

McGovern issued a statement in which he said a commission created when Lyndon B. Johnson was president found that only one of every three crimes committed is reported.

"There is so much crime in our country that the police can only deal with the most serious cases," said McGovern. "If your car is broken into by a heroin addict, there is no hope of getting your possessions back and there is no sense reporting the crime to the police. You simply have to accept being a victim of crime."

He said: "The American people do not want to hear that the problem has almost stopped getting worse. They want to see some progress. They want to hear what President Nixon is doing to make things get better. And the fact is that he is doing almost nothing."

The crime statistics released by the Justice Department were compiled by the FBI in its Uniform Crime Report through information received voluntarily from 5,606 local, county and state law-enforcement agencies.

In the report, murder, forcible rape, robbery and aggravated assault make up the violent-crime category and burglary, larceny over $50 and auto theft comprise the property category.

Geographically, the Western states reported an increase of 2 per cent. The Northeastern, North Central and Southern states each reported increases of 1 per cent.

F111A: Returns to combat

SAIGON (AP) — The controversial F111A fighter-bombers returned to combat Thursday for the first time in 4½ years and attacked North Vietnam's northwest rail line and military barracks between Hanoi and the Chinese border, the U.S. Command announced today.

For the fourth successive day Thursday, Air Force, Navy and Marine fighter-bombers launched more than 300 strikes across North Vietnam, the command said.

The key raids were made by the F111s, which carry up to 28,000 pounds of bombs, or twice the load that any other fighter-bomber can carry. They were in an area about 55 miles northwest of Hanoi and 100 miles below the Chinese border. The command gave no assessment on the damage they caused.

The Air Force also reported that F4 Phantom jets attacked what it described as a supply facility 28 miles southwest of Hanoi.

North Vietnam alleged that U.S. warplanes "wantonly" attacked the outskirts of Hanoi "causing many civilian casualties including children." It said three U.S. planes had been shot down in two southern provinces of North Vietnam, but made no mention of the fate of the pilots.

The U.S. Command declined comment on the Hanoi allegations, repeating statements that only military installations are targeted.

The command reported no plane losses over North Vietnam. It has a policy of withholding announcement of aircraft losses if search and rescue operations are under way.

In South Vietnam, however, the command announced in a delayed report that a Marine A4 crashed from unknown causes Tuesday area and said the pilot was missing.

An Air Force A1 Skyraider was reported lost to unknown causes Thursday in Laos. The pilot was rescued.

In Quang Tri City below the demilitarized zone, a U.S. Air Force F4 Phantom on a raid against North Vietnamese positions on the west bank of the Thach Han River opposite the Citadel accidentally hit a South Vietnamese marine position on the east side of the river. The U.S. Command said initial reports listed 11 marines wounded.

The F111A attack planes were sent immediately into action after arriving at Takhli Air Base in Thailand from Nellis

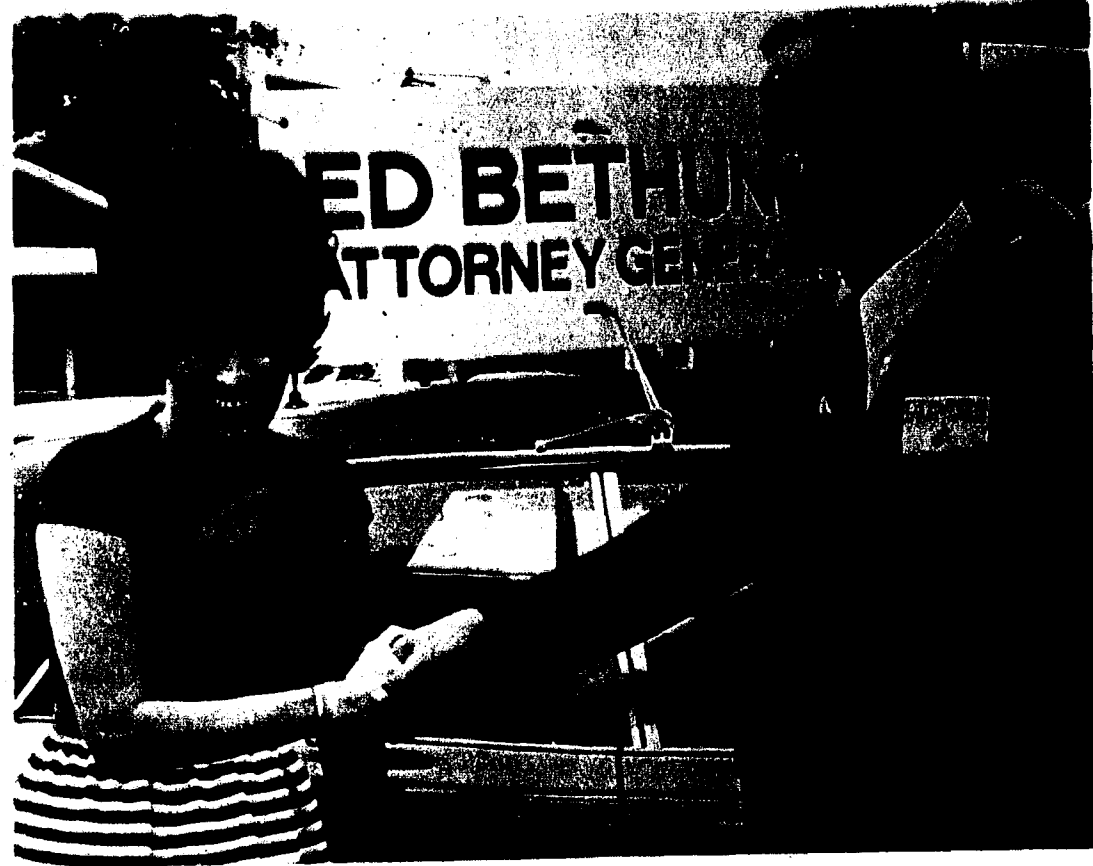

Air Force Base near Las Vegas, Nev.

Two squadrons of the all-weather attack planes, nearly 50 aircraft, are being based at Takhli. They replace about 60 F4 Phantoms from the 49th Tactical Fighter Wing which are returning to Holloman AFB in New Mexico.

The F111s were brought back, U.S. officials said, to increase the American strike capability during the forthcoming monsoon season in North Vietnam beginning next month. Their intricate radar systems allow them to fly to low altitudes during overcast skies.

First brought to Takhli on March 17, 1968, a half dozen F111s were used in the air campaign over North Vietnam, but were grounded several times because of technical problems. Three of the planes crashed and the other three were sent back to the United States after President Lyndon B. Johnson halted the bombing of the North.

The Air Force claims the mechanical problems have been eliminated.

Mass murder trial is slated to begin today

FAIRFIELD, Calif. (AP) — Opening arguments begin today in the murder trial of Juan V. Corona, accused of killing 25 itinerant farm workers and burying them in the lush fruit orchards along the Feather River last year.

For six hours the prosecution will recite its circumstantial case against the 38-year-old Mexican national, Sutter County Dist. Atty. G. Dave Teja said Thursday.

Superior Court Judge Richard E. Patton confirmed the circumstantial nature of the case when he ascertained in court earlier this week that the prosecution had no one to put forward to say he had actually seen Corona assaulting any of the victims.

The victims were lonely men—some drifters, some winos, some whose names are still unknown—who wandered the California migrant farm trail.

Corona, a farm labor contractor, is married and the father of four children. His priest calls him "an exemplary father and a fine Christian." He neither smokes nor drinks alcohol. He pleaded innocent.

News of the killings began to trickle from the rich, Sutter County farmland near Yuba City shortly after rancher Gori Kagahiro discovered what appeared to be a grave in his orchard. Deputies "dug up" the body of Kenneth E. Whitacre.

In the 16 days from May 21 to June 5, 1971, 25 bodies were found, most of them on the Jack Sullivan Ranch five miles north of Yuba City. Corona was arrested on May 26.

Undersheriff Frank Cartocelli said of the victims, "Most of the back of their heads were hacked up, and they were all stabbed in the chest area."

Sutter County Sheriff Roy Whiteaker said searchers of Corona's home turned up a bolo machete with an 18-inch blade, a hatchet, meat-cleaver, double-edge ax, a butcher knife, a wooden club with stains on it and a 9mm pistol with shells.

Corona was committed to Dewitt State Hospital in 1956 by his brother Natividad, and doctors said he was suffering schizophrenia. He was released as cured three months later.

Whiteaker said of the mur-

Each member is now bringing a weekly Calorie Count or is paying a fine for failing to do so. Next week names will be drawn for October "buddies," and those unable to attend should arrange for someone to draw a name for them.

The program was an open discussion on club improvement. Doris Walden won the Ha-Ha Box, and there were 27 present. The leader, Linda Bell, invites anyone interested in losing weight to come to the TOPS Club meetings any Monday night at 7 p.m. in the Douglas Building.

FBI report on crime rate enters campaign

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The FBI's new report on the nation's crime rate has been injected into the 1972 presidential campaign.

After the report was issued Thursday, Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern asserted: "Under the Nixon administration, the basic problems behind high crime rates have not been solved. They have worsened."

While President Nixon did not respond to McGovern's comments, two administration officials did. Presidential assistant John D. Ehrlichman contended that McGovern was "dramatically haywire" in his crime figures.

The report, the FBI's Uniform Crime Report, said serious crime in the country was up 1 per cent for the first six months of this year compared to the same period in 1971.

But McGovern said: "This does not come close to telling the whole story. For every crime that is reported, there are two that are not reported, according to President Johnson's Crime Commission."

The South Dakota senator, who cut short his campaign plans to relax today at his farmhouse at St. Michaels, Md., said crime has increased 33 per cent and drug addiction has doubled in the last three years.

Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst, in a speech to the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, attacked critics of the crime-reporting system.

Laird spoke of concern over "calls for defense-budget cuts that would magnify our country's risks and lessen our prospects for lasting peace."

"Those who want to cut defense spending ... are not really interested in relieving the taxpayer of any part of his burden," he told civic clubs in Oklahoma City.

"On the contrary, they want to dangerously slash defense spending so they can spend more tax dollars for other things such as a $1,000 giveaway for every man, woman, and child in this country."

Asked on a CBS radio program earlier this week if he was playing a political role in the Nixon campaign, Laird replied: "No I'm not."

"I will answer charges, however, that are made in connection with running the Department of Defense, with our national-security requirements, or personal attacks along the line made by Sen. McGovern last Sunday."

"These are all nonpolitical appearances," insisted Pentagon spokesman Jerry W. Friedman. Who, reporters asked, determines whether they are political or nonpolitical? "The events are sponsored by non-political organizations" which invited Laird to attend, Friedman replied.

The myth-makers have decided that since the figures just do not bear out their point of view anymore, they will tell us that the figures are mistaken," Kleindienst said.

HELEN BOTTEL

Helen Help Us!

M-in-L Before the Wedding

Dear Helen:
A couple of months ago, my girl's mother lost her home to fire so, trying to be kind, I let her use the spare bedroom in my house. I work 70 hours a week to earn extra money for my coming marriage, so I didn't think she'd get underfoot.

Well, she's taken over. She criticizes my every move, acts as if the house were hers, has brought in a divorced daughter to stay with her—and is telling my fiancée that I'm no good, a lazy slob.

She drinks my booze, eats my food and is trying to break up my coming marriage, but if I throw her and her daughter out, what chance will I have with the other daughter—my intended? She protects her mother, knowing she is a near alcoholic. —SAM THE SOFT-HEARTED SLOB

Dear Sam:
I'd suggest you let your UN-mother-in-law win: If she breaks up your coming marriage, you can throw her out, as she'll no longer be "related." (Though you may need the help of a professional evictor.)

And if your fiancée doesn't come back, consider yourself lucky: a wife who puts a scrounging, vindictive, boozy mother first is not the world's greatest catch! —H.

Dear Helen:
My mother has a good sense of humor but it's the sick kind. She says she's not a racist—that she's actually making fun of those who are.

But she calls people "niggers" and "wops" and "kikes." The other day she told a friend he was trying to "Jew her down." When I complain, she says it's the opposite of racism—like "All in the Family." She claims she is putting the problem in perspective by mimicking Archie, or going him one better.

The trouble is, people don't realize this—and I think she's fooling herself. She actually IS prejudiced—the kind of person who says "Some of my best friends are..."

How can I get it across that she is embarrassingly unfunny? —M.G.
P.S. She's Irish, and proud of it.

Dear M.:
How about a dose of her own medicine? Ask her how she'd like to be referred to as "Shanty Irish" or a "Mick"—by "some of her best friends."

Better yet, tell your mother straight out that racism by any other name is still repulsive. —H.

Dear Helen:
My part-time housekeeper is a married woman who tells me she and her husband have been living live sister and brother for ten years. I guess this frustrates her because she has nothing but sex on her mind and constantly talks about it, tells dirty jokes, etc. She cleans well and I hate to lose her, but is there a way I can subtly shut her up? —SICK OF SEX

Dear Helen:
If changing the subject doesn't work (and it probably won't) then walk away. —H.

Dear Helen:
Who needs liberation from whom? Consider this: Diamonds are a girl's best friend, but a man's best friend is his dog! —S.S.

Quality Dole bananas are an inexpensive, tropical treat available year round. So as not to let those banana bargains go to waste, the food experts at Dole banana kitchens have developed this unusual and delicious way of serving them.

BANANA CREPES

4 eggs
1 1/2 cups milk
1/4 cup melted butter
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup sifted flour
8 small Dole bananas

Sauce
3/4 cup sugar
1 cup orange juice
1/2 cup butter
1 teaspoon grated orange peel
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/4 cup Curacao or Grand Marnier liqueur
3 tablespoons brandy

For crepes, beat eggs, milk, 1/4 cup melted butter, salt and flour until smooth. Heat an 8-inch skillet, brush with butter. Add 2 tablespoons batter; tilt pan to spread. Cook over moderately low heat until brown on both sides, turning once. Cut bananas into halves lengthwise. Place one-half on each crepe; fold over. Place in chafing dish.

Combine sauce ingredients except brandy; heat to boiling; pour over crepes. Spoon brandy over all. Ignite with match. Spoon flaming liquid over crepes. Makes 8 servings of 2 crepes per person.

Note: For ease of handling crepes, heat and serve half the crepes and sauce in chafing dish; then repeat.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Shingles seem quite common

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I had a bad case of shingles about three months ago. The rash disappeared but I still have a lot of pain in the arm, shoulder and back. Could you put something in your column explaining just what causes shingles and why the pain lasts so long after the rash is gone?

Dear Reader — I would never have guessed that so many people had shingles until I started writing this column. Numerous people have written to me asking about this problem.

Shingles, which we technically call herpes zoster, is a very painful skin rash caused by a virus infection of a nerve root. The virus is the same one that causes chicken pox. The skin rash usually breaks out along the distribution of the nerve. Since one of the nerves between the ribs is commonly involved, it is not unusual for the rash to go along the curvature of the rib. It can however, involve a nerve with the distribution along the side of the leg or even over the face.

Unfortunately, the treatment of this problem is unsatisfactory. I note that Dr. Richard L. Dobson, professor of dermatology at the University of Oregon Medical School has recently written that the treatment of the uncomplicated case is entirely symptomatic. This means that doctors give various medicines that have the general effect of relieving pain. In some instances aspirin is enough, and in other instances, strong medicine is needed.

Dr. Dobson does not recommend salves and lotions, and finds that they are irritating. In his opinion a dry dressing changed daily is the best local medicine. If the rash involves the face, sometimes the hormone cortisone or related medications are given. If another infection involves the area of the rash then the bacteria that's causing this superimposed infection has to be identified and the proper treatment given, usually by pills or shots.

The rash usually lasts only two or three weeks, but about 10 per cent of the people who have this problem will have residual neuralgia, this means that the nerve that was involved in the first place continues to cause severe pain. This is very difficult to treat. Dr. Dobson recommends spraying the painful area with one of the refrigerant sprays such as ethyl chloride. This sometimes relieves the pain at least temporarily and in a few instances produces permanent relief. If the pain persists for a long period of time the patient is often sent to a neurosurgeon and if the nerve involved is superficial or not essential to vital body function, sometimes surgical relief of the pain is attempted.

Baseball's '72 season heads into final week

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The happy Oakland A's and desperate New York Yankees were at opposite ends of an emotional see-saw today as baseball's 1972 season headed into its final regular week of play.

The A's, wearing the American League's West Division crown, were happy that they hadn't backed into the title and the Yankees, still nursing an outside shot at the AL's East title, were grateful that they hadn't backed out of their chance for the other division championship.

Oakland wiped out a seven-run deficit and clinched the West with a pulsating 8-7 victory over Minnesota while the Yankees, peering at the fate of instant elimination, fought back for a 3-2 victory over Detroit.

The Tigers' loss, combined with Boston's 3-1 victory over Kansas City, moved the Red Sox 1 1/2 games ahead of Detroit in the AL East scramble. Each team has six to play including a season-ending three-game series against each other.

The Yankees, almost doomed by that last-week schedule, are third, 3 1/2 games behind with five to play, and idle Baltimore slipped to fourth place, four behind with five to play.

In the only National League game played Thursday, Philadelphia topped Pittsburgh 2-1.

Oakland fell behind 7-0 in the first 4 1/2 innings against the Twins but battled its way back, finally tying the score on Angel Mangual's two-run single in the eighth inning.

Malvern outlook

By ALAN FOSTER
Star Sports Writer

The date of the first big showdown is finally here. Hope squares off against Malvern, a team which is regarded by many as "the team to beat". But all previous records are past history. Tonight Malvern will leave Leopard Land and invade Cat Country, a dangerous place to spend an autumn evening.

Malvern is led at quarterback by Bryan Bond. He has shown great ability both as an athlete and as a leader. He is a dangerous passer when forced to deviate from his running game.

When you speak of the running game, one name stands out. J. R. Ross. Malvern builds their offensive game around this 175 pound back, and I guarantee you he is good foundation. He has already gained 711 yards this season, 427 of those in his last two games. If hope wants to stay in the game, they must stop J. R. Ross, which will be a whole lot easier said than done.

Malvern's defense is big and they are tough. They don't apply a lot of glamorous formations to their game plan. They just whup you physically and in the case of their last three opponents they have been completely dominant.

Malvern Coach David Alpe admits concern about Hope. The Cats are ready. They've been ready all season for this one.

Malvern can't expect to run over players like Paul Bazar, Mike Downs, Mike Waters, David Huddleston or Kenny Beach. They will probably try Eddie Ricky Brown out in the secondary but even though he's small, he more than makes up for it in effort.

Also Hope's offense could explode on them at anytime. Robbie Boyd's passing and the running of David Johnson will be the main concern of the Leopards.

Student morale at Hope is sky high. They want to see their Bobcats win.

Prediction: Hope 14 Malvern 13

Hogs favored over Tulsa

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Tulsa vs. Arkansas is the type matchup that can make a football forecaster look awfully bad.

Remember 1971? Arkansas was impressive in victories over California and Oklahoma State and Tulsa had dropped its opener to Kansas State. Arkansas had beaten Tulsa 49-7 in 1970 and some were calling the 1971 game the mismatch of the year.

In this corner the pick was Arkansas 42, Tulsa 7.

Of course, Tulsa scored 21 points in the fourth quarter and won 21-20.

Tulsa will again be a big underdog and can play with the abandon of a team not expected to fare well.

The Hurricane is 1-2 this season, sandwiching a 10-9 victory over Wichita State around losses to Kansas State and Houston.

One of the biggest problems has been at quarterback.

"Until we straighten that out we aren't going anywhere," says Tulsa Coach Claude Gibson.

Todd Starks, who completed seven of 11 passes for 128 yards and three touchdowns in the fourth period of the Arkansas game last year, has been injured. Tulsa has been using Steve Bowling at quarterback.

Bowling, a junior, had not played a down at quarterback in college until this year, Gibson says. He says, however, that Starks began throwing the ball again this week and indications are he may be ready by Saturday.

Razorback forecast

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The National Weather Service said today the outlook for the Arkansas-Tulsa football game Saturday afternoon at Fayetteville called for sunny and cool with the temperature near 70. Winds will be easterly at about five miles per hour.

— Art Rooney gave the National Football League $2,500 when he organized the Pittsburgh Steelers in 1929.

Getting it all together

By DAVE BAER

Jon Richardson, the man with the right words for any occasion, looked up from his seat on a bench in the Arkansas Razorbacks' dressing room and answered a question.

"Where's Davis? He's probably out touring the city," Richardson laughed. "I think his limousine picked him up a few minutes ago."

Such round-about praise for cornerback Mike Davis was richly deserved Saturday night after his interception (the Razorbacks) killed Oklahoma State's final drive and preserved a 24-23 victory at Little Rock's War Memorial Stadium.

It was especially sweet for Davis, a graduate of Little Rock Hall High School. "I wanted to do something for the home folks," he said. "You know, I played here during high school, but I never did anything quite like that interception."

A junior letterman who had two interceptions last season, Davis ended a string of bad luck at War Memorial Stadium. "Everytime we played here in the past, I had some sort of injury. So it was a thrill just to get into the game," he said.

Afterwards several members of the Razorback defense pledged to improve in the future. Happy to win but dissatisfied with certain aspects of their game, the players talked about "getting it all together."

Senior cornerback Louis Campbell, who was the first to congratulate Davis after his interception, explained the general sentiment.

"We talked about what we have in front of us (beginning Saturday at Fayetteville against the University of Tulsa, 2 p.m.), and what we've learned from the games behind us," Campbell said. "We wanted to see where we are now, what we've got to do and how we're going to do it."

One Razorback defender put it all together Saturday by shackling OSU runners with 12 tackles and two assists. He is Don Wunderly, a 6-3, 220-pound senior tackle who played his best game as a Razorback.

A slight adjustment, changing his tactics by using his hands to counter OSU's scrambling blocks, helped Wunderly to his excellent performance. He made the change in the first quarter.

"He was inspired," said David Reavis, another defensive tackle who played behind Wunderly Saturday. "I was talking to him throughout the game and I could tell he was really fired up."

Bobkittens do it again

By RICKY FAWCETT
Star Sports Writer

"They were the biggest and best team we've played," sighed Coach Lyle Jones after his Hope Bobkittens knocked off Texarkana College Hill, 6-0, last night. This win brought Hope's season record to 3 wins, 1 loss.

Playing before the home crowd, Hope took command early. On their first possession of the night the Kittens drove 75 yards in seven plays. Hope started the series at their own 25 yard line. A pass from Mark Harris to Jimmy Williams covered ten yards. Two plays later Harris connected with Elvin Davis for 53 yards to the College Hill 22. Two plays later Jimmy Williams hauled in the 17-yard touchdown pass. The conversion was no good, but Hope had an early 6-0 lead.

That 6-0 lead stayed for the rest of the game. Texarkana's only threat came midway through the fourth quarter. A long pass gave the Shoats control at the Hope 11 yard line. Two plays gave Texarkana four yards. Then with 3:31 left in the game, Greg Impson recovered a Shoat fumble and Hope was out of danger. "Personal inspiration, pride, and emotion made them hold," Coach Jones said afterwards.

Standing out in that Hope defense were Impson, Curtis East, Jimmy Williams, and Leonard Brown, who made two interceptions.

Next week Hope goes after its fourth straight win by playing Camden at home. Camden would like to avenge last year's 22-6 loss, while Hope will be protecting its winning streak.

Here is another elimination play made possible because West's bidding has told South where all the cards are.

Not that we really fault West for his bidding. He can't know that East has a blank hand.

West cashes the ace and king of diamonds and shifts to a trump. South stops to figure out West's hand. He probably started with 5-5 in the minor suits, the ace and one heart and a spade.

That doesn't have to be the exact distribution but South can find out more about it right away. He ruffs his last diamond with dummy's ace of trumps; East follows, so West started with just five diamonds.

South returns to this hand with a second trump. West shows out.

Now South leads a low heart toward dummy. West can't afford to rise with his ace. That would set up dummy's fourth heart for a club discard. West ducks and dummy's jack wins the trick.

A second heart is led. South's queen falls to West's ace and poor West is stone cold dead.

If he leads a diamond, South gets a ruff and discard. He sees that and does the best he can by leading a club. South lets this come around to his queen and scores game and rubber.

What do you do now?

A—Bid four hearts. Your partner is showing a good hand with at least five diamonds. He will read your four-heart call as a cue bid and not a heart suit.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Your partner continues to four no-trump. What do you do now?

Divorce question haunts Catholics

NEW YORK (AP) — A Youngstown, Ohio, man writes: "I'd do most anything to be given the opportunity to once again be a complete Catholic. I thought I had that chance after reading your column, but my pastor gave me a polite, but firm, 'No'."

The fact is that the National Conference of Catholic Bishops, through its president, has called a halt to a procedure initiated in some dioceses allowing divorced and remarried Catholics in "good conscience" cases to return to receiving Communion.

John Cardinal Krol, president of the bishops, said the Vatican is studying the question, but has made clear that dioceses "are not to introduce procedures that are contrary to present discipline."

Until this admonition was issued late last month, several dioceses had quietly initiated steps to restore the sacraments to divorced and remarried

Catholics, who affirm a "good conscience" about it and believe their previous marriages invalid, even though unable for technical reasons to get them officially annulled.

After Cardinal Krol's warning, however, the special procedures apparently were being suspended.

Under existing Church canons, Catholics who remarry after divorces without Church annulment of previous marriages are automatically excommunicated — barred from the sacraments. There have been estimates that about five million American Catholics are in such a status.

"The Church is not insensitive to the anxiety and anguish of the individuals involved," Cardinal Krol said. But he added that "grave doctrinal implications, including the indissolubility of marriage and fidelity to the Gospel of Christ are involved."

BE PARTNERS WITH GOD SUPPORT HIS CHURCH

Somebody's Track

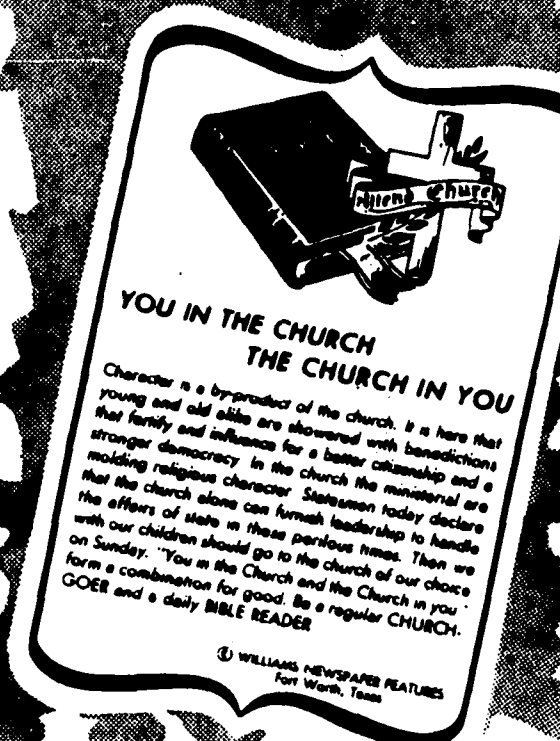

— was it yours? Did you know that your footprint identifies you almost as well as your fingerprint. The law uses it to trap the lawless.

God uses it to show you where you were when you became conscience smitten. Your tracks tell on you...they give you away. You were where you should not have been and your tracks prove it.

Your son was following your tracks when he got into serious trouble. Mr., you write either a good story or a bad one by the tracks you make.

Why not resolve to walk toward the church next Sunday... any church... for they are all better than you. Every church in this community offers you a place to work, an opportunity to help others, and the privilege to make tracks for God. Then why not turn your tracks into a testimonial for the Lord, to be read of men, by printing them on the way that leads to church every Sunday.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE

NO. 10104

In the Chancery Court of Hempstead County, Ark. Harrell H. Collier and Odell Collier his wife, Plaintiff vs. Luther Lee and Clara Lee, his wife, Defendant. Writ of Habeas Corpus. The defendant, Luther Lee and Clara Lee, his wife, were warned to appear in this court within thirty days and answer the complaint of the Plaintiff, Harrell H. Collier and Odell Collier. Witness my hand and the seal of said court this 12 day of September, 1972. Jim Cole, Clerk

A lot of industries are looking at Arkansas right now.

They won't come here unless we repeal our obsolete Train Crew Laws.

Arkansas is the only state left with Train Crew Laws which impose higher than necessary operating costs upon its railroads. Unless we can repeal these laws, we face higher freight charges. Not only would present industries be handicapped by higher freight charges, industries considering Arkansas as an area to relocate would quickly forget it. And we would lose our present industrial development momentum. There are no reasons, actually, why an Arkansan should vote against Act 1. And the railroad unions, through a series of contracts with management, have assured every railroad operating employee in Arkansas job and earnings protection. Anyone who believes trains can't be run safely without six-man crews should check with the other 49 states where trains do run safely with less than six men. 49 out of 50 states can't be wrong. Vote for Act 1.

Shippers' Committee for Repeal of Train Crew Laws
